Executive Summary:

The Citation M2 Gen2 continues to strengthen its position as one of the most popular light jets for sale by combining proven performance, single-pilot capability, and modern cabin enhancements into an efficient entry-level business jet platform. As the successor to the Citation Mustang and CJ1 series, the Citation M2 introduced advanced Garmin G3000 avionics, FADEC-equipped Williams engines, and strong operational performance that appeal to owner-pilots and corporate operators alike. The Gen2 update focuses primarily on passenger comfort and cabin usability through redesigned seating, enhanced lighting, wireless charging capabilities, and improved storage solutions while maintaining the aircraft's established performance specifications. For buyers researching private jets for sale, business jets for sale, or how to buy a private jet in the entry-level light jet category, the Citation M2 Gen2 remains a highly desirable and versatile aircraft option.

Key Takeaways:

- The Citation M2 Gen2 builds upon the success of the Citation Mustang and CJ1 series with upgraded cabin comfort, modern styling, and advanced Garmin G3000 avionics.
- Textron redesigned the M2 Gen2 cabin with wireless charging, improved lighting, enhanced passenger seating, additional co-pilot legroom, and expanded storage functionality.
- The Citation M2 Gen2 maintains strong performance with approximately 1,500 nautical miles of range, a 404-knot cruise speed, and efficient single-pilot operation.
- High demand for new delivery positions and resale activity continues to make the Citation M2 Gen2 one of the most sought-after light jets for sale in the current market.
